

Net neutrality must be protected. Like so many, a free and open Internet is my livelihood. It allows me to work from home, to live where I can afford to live while still actively taking part in the national and international communities in my field. This is a freedom we cannot lose and should not sacrifice for corporate monetary profit.

Protect the open internet.